

*College of Osteopathic Medicine
College of Biosciences*

December 1, 2016

Dear Commencement Candidates,

Congratulations! You are scheduled to graduate from Kansas City University of Medicine and Biosciences on Saturday, May 20, 2017.

Both COM and COB classes will walk during the ceremony at the Municipal Auditorium, in downtown Kansas City.

Final approval for graduation is contingent upon compliance with and completion of all requirements for graduation as outlined in the Student Handbook and College Catalog. It is your personal responsibility to ensure that you have met all requirements in order to prevent any delay in the receipt of your diploma. Please contact Dr. Richard Winslow, vice provost of student and enrollment services, rwinslow@kcumb.edu, if you have any questions.

Attendance at Commencement is required, unless you have extenuating circumstances and have been excused by the respective dean of your college.

All of us at Kansas City University of Medicine and Biosciences share in your excitement and accomplishment, and we look forward to seeing you receive your diploma. Once again, congratulations!

Sincerely,

A handwritten signature in black ink that reads "G.M. Johnston D.O. MACOI". The signature is written in a cursive style.

G.M. Johnston, D.O. MACOI
Interim Dean of the College of Osteopathic Medicine