-There are 118 elements in the world, however, the most important one that is not included is kindness-

        -Sangmin Woo-

      This quote that I made was for people to know that kindness is as important as the other elements in our life. If one of the elements disappear, the whole entire world will change.

      There are many ways that you can share kindness with others, but the best way I think there is is to say or do something that might help someone with what they are doing. For example, when someone is having a hard time cutting pizzas in half, you can do it for them. You can also give suggestions to someone when he or she is having a hard time writing an essay.

      In my opinion, I think it is very important to spread kindness to others, because there may be some people who are sad or pressured. You can make their days better by giving them kindness. Oh, and by the way, Gravity Falls Code.
