

Night at the Museum

Explore the Smithsonian National Museum of Natural History to see what animals you can find and learn about. Place the animals that you see into this chart based on the habitat that they live in.

Do they live in the ocean, a forest, the arctic or the desert?

Let's Go On A Fieldtrip!

This week, take some time to go on a virtual field trip to explore awesome places around the world from the comfort of your own home! This page gives you some examples with fun related activities, but there are many other virtual field trips available online. Click here for more options.

National Parks Adventure

Have you ever wondered...

What it looks like inside the crevasse of a glacier or inside the lava tube of a volcano? Or perhaps you were wondering about life in caves or sea life in a coral reef. Take some time to get outside virtually and be mesmerized by the beauty Mother Nature has created here on planet Earth. Explore 5 spectacular National Parks in a front row seat on an interactive ranger-guided tour.

Under the Sea

Let's take a trip to the Monterey Bay Aquarium! Have your child explore the live web cams that are interesting to them. Ask them to point out the different sea creatures they see! Encourage them to move their bodies like the animals they see and have them explain what body parts they are moving like the animals (e.g. "I'm moving my legs like the fish's tail").

Now, it's your turn to make your own aquarium with items you have at home! Click here for a sensory activity and click here for a fine motor activity.

African Safari

Watch animals in the beautiful African wilderness! Choose a live channel here or here to discover what elephants, giraffes, warthogs and many other animals do during the day and night. Listen to the sounds of the African bush and pretend you are on a safari as you spot the animals in their natural habitat.

Click here to do an African Animal Phonological Awareness activity! Learn the different names of the animals as you play. See if you can find them on the live stream! Click here for a fun story retell of Old Mikamba Had a Farm.
