

RODRIGO CARABAÑO

John Allan Cameron Crimmins

Allan Crimmins was a Flight Lieutenant who enlisted in the Royal Canadian Air Force. He did not have any experience with flying so he enlisted as an air gunner and wireless operator for the air crew.

Born in March 2, 1913 in New York, Allan Crimmins moved to Canada at a young age where he would stay to study. He attended Westmount High School from 1927 to 1933 and then attended two universities where he pursued a career in science and another one in medicine.

Allan enlisted on October 22, 1940 and served for four years before going missing on May 10, 1944. He was never found. The official report states that "...he failed to return to base after taking off to carry out a fighter sweep over France...". The letter informing about his disappearance was sent to his wife on May 22, 1944.
