KCU MISSION

Improving the well-being of the communities we serve.

ABOUT KCU

Kansas City University, founded in 1916, is a fully accredited, private not-for-profit health sciences university with Colleges of Osteopathic Medicine, Biosciences and Dental Medicine. The University offers multiple graduate degrees: doctor of osteopathic medicine; doctor of psychology in clinical psychology; and master of science in biomedical sciences. Additional dual degree opportunities include: master of arts in bioethics; master of business administration in health care leadership offered in partnership with Rockhurst University; and master of public health offered in partnership with the University of Nebraska Medical Center. The KCU College of Osteopathic Medicine is the fourth-largest, ninth-most impactful in primary care and tenth-most affordable of private medical colleges in the nation. It is also the leading producer of physicians for both Missouri and Kansas.

KCU has two campuses in Kansas City and Joplin, Missouri, to address the growing population health needs of both urban and rural communities in the region.
